

Programme Outcome

Programme Specific Outcome

M A English Language and Literature

The master's degree programme offered by the department posits the following as the possible programme outcome at its successful completion.

To attain a profound understanding of English language and literature.

To have a renewed aesthetic understanding of literary works.

To have a comprehensive view of the various theoretical interventions at different periods of literature.

To have an in depth knowledge of literary and theoretical concepts.

To attain mastery over different ages of English literature.